

The AI Literacy Initiative

Follow us on Instagram @ai_literacyinitiative

theailiteracyinitiative26@gmail.com

Our Team

What we've been up to

First AI Literacy
Workshop @Akshar
Arbol International

Meme of the Week

How to Confuse Machine Learning?

Computer's don't see adorable dogs or baked goods; they see numbers representing pixel colors or patterns.

Because a Chihuahua's face shares almost the exact same color palette and features as a blueberry machine, the machine get's thrown off!

In the News

Anthropic adds Invisible Watermarks to Your HW

This means that it carries an invisible "secret code" that tells someone your text was written by an AI.

Instead of stamping a visible logo, the technology tweaks word choices, phrasing patterns and punctuation. You can't see a difference, but Anthropic is launching a detection tool for schools and regulators that can detect Claude usage.

Algorithms &amp; Arguments

New York City Public Schools banning AI use through middle school starting this year

Students in the nation's largest school district return to classrooms next week.

By Arthur Jones II

September 1, 2026, 9:46 PM

Should Schools Ban AI Usage in Classrooms?

Yes

- Overreliance on Technology

AI might replace the thinking and effort students need to develop on their own.

- Implementation Challenges

We haven't come up with clear guidelines on using AI. We need time, training and support instead of rushing to implement AI.

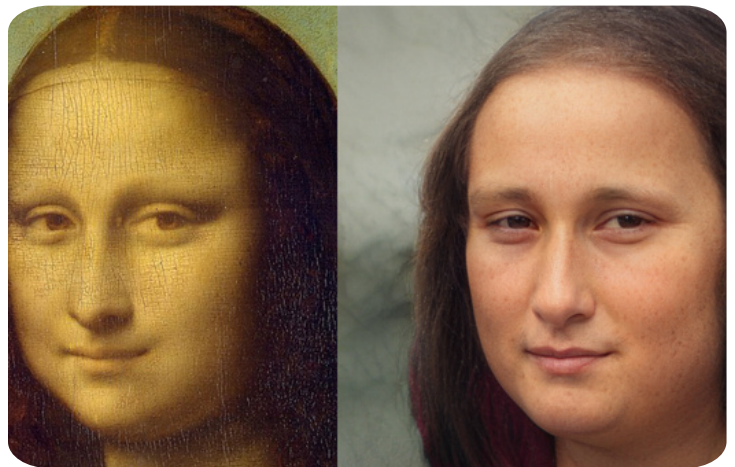

No

- Accessibility

In underfunded or rural schools, AI can help fill learning gaps.

- Reduced Teacher Workload:

"It gives me time back—time that I can spend working with kids instead of creating worksheets."

Artist Uses AI to Make Realistic Pics of Historical Figures

What Do You Think?

NYC Mayor, Mamdani on his moratorium on AI Usage for grades K-G8. (Temporary Ban)

“

The tech industry wants us to believe that A.I.-powered early education is not only inevitable, but necessary. We do not see it that way.

